01 SEASONAL PERSPECTIVE

The Season of Stewardship

On the Prairies, September is not just the end of summer. It is a natural time to plan and re-evaluate. Classrooms reopen, hockey begins, businesses refocus, and families settle into new routines.

Even the land reminds us of this shift. The harvest is gathered, the air cools, the leaves turn, and balance returns as night catches up to the day. Nature is already planning for next year.

At Northern Light Wealth we carry these natural rhythms forward, and encourage you to take stock during this season of harvest.

We believe wealth is not simply measured by accumulation. It is how wealth steadies families, strengthens communities, and cultivates values that span generations.

In keeping with the rhythm of strengthening families across generations, we want to shed light on estate planning and invite you to revisit the estate process.

Autumn is the season for taking stock. What was grown through the year is gathered, counted, and made ready for the years that follow.

02 STEWARDSHIP PRINCIPLE

The Estate IMA

Estate Investment Management Agreement

When a loved one passes, families face grief, paperwork, and many decisions at once. Most investment management agreements end at death.

Accounts can sit in limbo waiting for probate, sometimes twelve to twenty-four months, leaving assets unmanaged exactly when continuity matters most. Which raises a question few families ask:

Do you know what happens to your investment accounts when you pass away?

Families deserve better. The Estate IMA lets us carry out a client's wishes using the plan they put in place, working alongside their executor and professional team.

Its real benefit shows at the second passing of a spouse, when the estate moves into full settlement. That is when probate delays matter most, and when steadiness matters most.

A QUESTION TO ASK

“If something happened to us tomorrow, would the people we love know what to do next?”

A STORY TO SHARE

“Let me tell you about a family who waited nearly two years for probate. The plan was sound. Nobody was allowed to follow it. That waiting is what we set out to solve.”

True prosperity is not what we keep, but what we share.

Connection

Communities have always thrived on connection, gathering to share knowledge and support one another. We want to bring that same spirit into our work this autumn.

Having spoken with several legal teams about the Estate IMA, we are preparing to host events introducing it to clients, families, and anyone interested in learning more.

A larger educational event on estate planning is planned for this autumn. If you would prefer a more focused, personal gathering, please reach out and we will make arrangements.

We will send an invitation in the coming weeks.

If friends or family would find this useful, please pass it along or bring them to an event.

To act on your estate plan right away: book a 30-minute Estate IMA and Codicil Review, in person or virtual, or request our one-page Shining the Light on Settling an Estate executor checklist.

Looking Forward

Navigating the changing winds of the geopolitical environment has been difficult so far in 2025. As of writing, the Bank of Canada has lowered rates on easing inflation and the risk that the tariff situation causes a more protracted slowdown in the Canadian economy.

The US administration continues to cause waves in the markets with near-daily announcements, and multiple wars remain ongoing. Through all of it we remain adaptable and diligent in the management of your wealth.

We are pleased to report that we are up across all of our model portfolios this year, having made significant changes through 2025 to ensure that you and your wealth remain defensively positioned.

We continue to review the models constantly and look for opportunities to add meaningful value.

Thank you for the trust you have placed in Northern Light Wealth during our inaugural year. We look forward to continuing this journey with you.
